SELECTED INVENTORY OF HISTORIC SITES

THE INDIVIDUAL SITES AND DISTRICTS INCLUDED IN THIS INVENTORY are recognized historic resources in Montgomery County. The majority of the sites are designated on the Montgomery County Master Plan for Historic Preservation. Sites identified by NR are listed on the National Register for Historic Places, while those with NHL are recognized National Historic Landmarks. Several historic districts and individual sites are located within the boundaries of municipal governments and are subject to their particular planning and zoning authority. These historic resources, each listed on the National Register, are identified as municipal resources. In addition to resources described in this book, the municipalities of Gaithersburg and Rockville have locally designated resources.

The historic resources are described by geographic region. Within each region, historic districts are described first, followed by individual sites. The sites are arranged in chronological order by date of construction. Historic names have been used for identifying sites. Common names and recent names have been included in the index for cross reference.

The inventory of historic sites in the county is by no means a finished product. Many resources identified on the Locational Atlas and Inventory of Historic Sites (1976) have not yet been evaluated for designation on the Master Plan for Historic Preservation. Other resources may be eligible for National Register status, but have not been nominated for listing. Resources from the mid-20th century are now reaching a sufficient maturity that we may begin their evaluation.
