

Appendix B-1: National Naval Medical Center Master Plan Update (2008)

In anticipation of the realignment of tertiary care and other activities from Walter Reed Army Medical Center to National Naval Medical Center, the Navy completed an update of its 1990 master plan in 2008. The plan includes the BRAC program requirements, describes the community context, identifies existing conditions, establishes the master plan update, and provides development guidelines. In addition, it includes a Transportation Management Plan in order to mitigate the projected transportation impacts identified in the NNMC EIS.
